Representations against a ragging committee can be approached in several ways to ensure a fair and comprehensive review of the situation. Here are some possible methods:

A. Written Complaints

Formal Complaint Letter: Draft a detailed letter outlining the incident, including date, time, involved parties, and any witnesses. This should be addressed to the head of the committee or relevant authority.

Email Submission: If allowed, submit the complaint via email to ensure there's a digital record. Attach any relevant evidence (photos, videos, messages).

B. Personal Representation

Personal Hearing: Request a personal hearing with the committee to present your case directly. This allows for a direct dialogue and clarification of any questions the committee may have.

Character References: Provide character references from teachers or mentors to support the credibility of the complainant.

C. Documentation

Incident Report: Submit an official incident report form if the institution has one, ensuring all sections are filled out comprehensively.

Timeline of Events: Create a detailed timeline of events leading up to and following the incident for clarity.

D. Institutional Channels

HOD / Department discipline coordinator: Approach the institution's ombudsman or grievance redressal officer for impartial mediation.

3. Anti - ragging publicity was given through the following ways:

- a) Posters
- b) Notices
- c) Lectures
- d) T.V. Scrolls
- e) Also publicized through our website: www.griet.ac.in (available under Mandatory disclosures, Anti-ragging measures)

4. Ragging avoidance measures:

❖ Institutional Policies and Regulations

Strict Enforcement: Ensure strict enforcement of anti-ragging policies with zero tolerance for violations. This includes immediate disciplinary action against offenders.

Regular Audits: Conduct regular audits and inspections to ensure compliance with anti-ragging measures.

❖ Awareness and Education

Orientation Programs: Organize orientation programs for new students to educate them about the institution's anti-ragging policies, their rights, and how to report incidents.

Workshops and Seminars: Conduct workshops and seminars on the dangers of ragging and the importance of maintaining a respectful and inclusive campus culture.

Anti-Ragging Campaigns: Run ongoing anti-ragging campaigns, including posters, pamphlets, and social media outreach to raise awareness.

❖ Monitoring and Surveillance

CCTV Surveillance: Install CCTV cameras in common areas, hostels, and other vulnerable spots to deter ragging activities and provide evidence if incidents occur.

Anti-Ragging Squads: Form anti-ragging squads comprising faculty and senior students to monitor and patrol the campus, especially during the beginning of the academic year.

Anonymous Reporting Systems: Set up anonymous reporting systems, such as hotlines or online forms, for students to report ragging incidents without fear of retaliation.

❖ Support Systems

Counseling Services: Provide access to counseling and support services for victims of ragging to help them cope with the psychological and emotional impact.

Peer Mentorship Programs: Establish peer mentorship programs where senior students mentor juniors, promoting a supportive and friendly atmosphere.
